DISASTER OF ST. PIERRE GROWS

OTHER MOUNTAINS SEND FORTH VOLUMES OF BURNING LAVA

Latest Advices Say That Mt. Pelee is Still in Active Eruption.

DEATH LIST MAY NUMBER FORTY THOUSAND

People in All the Windward Group of Is- lands Panic Stricken.

Impossible For Vessels Yet To Reach the Land--Sea in the Vicinity of Island Covered With Ashes--Details Slow in Coming In--Horror of Martinique is Growing.

London, May 10.—A Central News dispatch from St. Lucia today says that the situation in Martinique is worse than ever. Other mountains are bursting forth in eruption.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 10.—The latest advices today say that Mt. Pelee is still in eruption. St. Pierre is still burning. The sea for miles in the vicinity is covered with ashes and it is impossible thus far for vessels to reach the land. People in all the Windward group of islands are panic stricken and the earthquake shocks are frequent and violent.

Paris, May 10.—Today's dispatches from the West Indies confirm the story of the total destruction of St. Pierre, Martinique. The death list will grow and surely reach 30,000. Rescue ships are now on the way to St. Pierre.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Bills were today presented in both house and Senate for the appropriation of $100,000 to buy provisions, clothing, medicines and other necessities to be tendered to the French government for the relief of her terribly afflicted people at Martinique, and authorizing the secretary of war to use such vessels as are necessary for the quick transportation of the same.

PARIS, May 10.—The cabinet met today and authorized the advance of 500,000 francs for the relief work at St. Pierre.

All the Inhabitants Burned.

London, May 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Pointe a Pitre, Isl. and of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, dated yesterday, says:

"The Mont Pelee (St. Pierre) crater ejected yesterday morning molten rocks and ashes during three minutes, and completely destroyed St. Pierre and the districts within a four mile radius. All the inhabitants were burned. About eight passengers from the Rourmai, of the Quebec steamship line, were saved by the French cruiser 'Suchet'.

"The inhabitants of the southern districts of the island who were dependent on St. Pierre for provisions are menaced by famine."

Only Twenty People Escaped.

Washington, May 10.—The following cablegram has been received at the State Department.

Pointe a Pitre, May 9, 1902.
"Secretary of State, Washington: At 7 o'clock a. m. on the 8th inst. a storm of steam, mud and fire enveloped the city and community. Not more than 20 persons escaped with their lives. Eighteen vessels were burned and sunk with all on board including four American vessels and a steamer from Quebec, named Roriana. The United States Consul and family are reported among the victims. A war vessel has come to Guadeloupe for provisions and will leave at 5 tomorrow. AYME, Consul.

SLOWLY

Fragments of News of Overwhelming
Disaster are Sifting in from the Little Islands.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 10.—Fragments of the overwhelming of St. Pierre are today sifting in slowly from the many little islands adjacent to Martinique. All tend to confirm the belief that the inhabitants of St. Pierre and vicinity were still a mass of number of 40,000 or more perished flames when last seen. For miles the sea, in the vicinity of St. Pierre is covered with ashes, and vessels have found it thus far impossible to approach the land. The eruptions still continue from the volcano and it may be some days before a full story of the disaster can be told.

Dispatches from the islands in the southern group show that the people everywhere are on the verge of panic. One of the survivors of the Roddam saw, as his own ship fled to sea, the cable ship Grappler, afire from stem to stern. The Roraima blew up. All the other shipping in the harbor shared similar fates.

SURVIVORS.

Describe the Terrible Rain of Fire as "Glimpses of Hell"—Eruption Began Sunday.

London, May 10.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Co. from Kingston, Jamaica, after giving the details of the Martinique disaster already known, says:

"Thousands were killed at St. Pierre where a terrible panic prevailed. The eruption began Saturday, May 3, when St. Pierre was covered with ashes and appeared to be enveloped in fog. The flow of lava continued until Wednesday, May 7." The message adds:

"In the Island of St. Vincent the soufriere (volcano) is active and earthquakes are frequent. But so far no damage has been done."

In response to the request of Governor Llewellyn of the Windward Islands, the British second class cruiser Indefatigable has been dispatched from the Island of Trinidad to the Island of St. Vincent by way of St. Lucia.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Jamaica says:

"The first intimation of a disaster (at Martinique) was the breaking of the cables on Tuesday. The French cable at Martinique, from Puerto Plata was broken Wednesday. Cable communication with all the northern islands is stopped.

"The survivors of the British steamer Roddam describe the scene at St. Pierre as being 'glimpses of hell,' beggaring description.

"The Rourmai was wrecked in a terrible upheaval of land and sea. The whole crew perished.

Tow ships were lost with all on board in an attempt to approach Martinique."

Island of Martinique, French Colony.

Martinique, one of the West Indies (Windward group) and constituting a French colony, lies 300 miles southeast of the group of Danish Islands recently purchased by the United States.

Its length is 45 miles, greatest breadth 15 miles; area 381 square miles. The island is irregular in form, high, rocky and volcanic, containing five or six extinct craters. It is subject to earthquakes, of which several previous ones have been disastrous.

In the interior are three mountains, the highest of which, Mt. Pelee, in the north, 4488 feet above the sea, after a long period of inaction, burst forth in a violent volcanic eruption in August, 1851. From these mountains several ranges of low volcanic hills extend to the sea, and between them lie broad, fertile valleys.

About one-third of the surface is under cultivation, the principal production being sugar, coffee, cotton, cassia, manioc, bananas, indigo, maize, cacao and ginger.

The manufactures possess considerable importance; there are several establishments for the preparation of indigo, about 100 for the various processes in the preparation of sugar, coffee, cocoa and cotton, besides potteries, limekilns and steam mills. There is an active commerce chiefly with France. The exports are sugar, coffee, cocoa, cassia, dye and cabinet woods, rum etc.

Martinique, called by the Indians Madiana, was discovered by Columbus in 1493. The French colonized it in 1635 and during the war of American independence made it a great naval station. The British seized it in 1762, 1781, 1794 and 1809, finally restoring it by the treaty of Paris in 1814.

The inhabitants are chiefly negroes and half-castes, and numbered in 1888, 175,391. The capital is Fort de France.

St. Pierre is the chief seaport, and is situated on the northwest coast of the island. It is the largest town in the French West Indies, and was well built and was also fortified. There is an old Catholic college and a botanic garden. The harbor is much exposed. A railroad connects the place with Port de France. The place was settled by the French in 1625.

In 1892 a noted traveller said: "Once or twice since 1801 ominous mutterings have been heard, which, it is confidently predicted, will one day deluge St. Pierre with ashes and lava, repeating the story of Pompeii," and the prediction has been fulfilled.

WENT TO SEA

With a Deck Load of Burning Lava—
Five Fell Dead While Weighing Anchor.

London, May 10.—Today's dispatches of the owners of the British steamer Roddam say Captain Freeman and 10 of the crew are in a hospital at St. Lucia. Two officers and eight men lost their lives. The catastrophe was so sudden that five men fell dead while assisting in weighing the anchor in St. Pierre harbor. The Roddam went to sea with a deck load of burning lava.

ST. VINCENT

Eruption Was Still Proceeding According to the Latest Reports from the Island.

London, May 10.—The colonial office this morning received some details of the volcanic eruption in the Island of St. Vincent. The news came from Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, governor of Barbadoes, timed 1 a. m. today. It reads:

"Soufriere on the Island of St. Vincent erupted violently yesterday with a loud report resembling artillery fire. The explosion was heard in Barbadoes at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. By 5 o'clock darkness and thunder, accompanied by a strong downpour of dust, set in. Barbadoes was covered to the extent of several inches this morning. I have offered the governor of the Windward Islands every assistance in my power."

A message was also received from Sir Robert Baxton Llewellyn, governor of the Windward Islands today. It reads:

"Thirty deaths are reported in St. Vincent. The eruption is still proceeding. I am endeavoring to get back to St. Vincent."

GEOLOGIST

In Simple Language Tells What Caused the Eruption—Likened to a Boiler Explosion.

New York, May 10.—Dr. Hovey, the eminent geologist, says the eruption at Mt. Pelee, near St. Pierre was much the same as a boiler explosion. A lake in the crater of the volcano sank through the volcanic fissures until it reached the molten lava, when it was turned into steam and blew up the mountain. The same thing happened at Krakatoa in 1883 when dust was blown 10 miles into the air, encircled the earth and made the phenomenal glowing sunsets of that year.

A Vain Hope.

Paris, May 10.—Minister Decrais says the disaster means the industrial and commercial ruin of Martinique. He still expresses the hope that the early reports will prove to be exaggerated.

BILL

Against Meat Trust, to be Filed in Chicago at Five O'Clock This Afternoon.

Washington, May 10.—The government bill against the meat trust will be filed this afternoon in Chicago at 5 o'clock. The bill is based on the Sherman anti-trust law and says the packers are maintaining the combination or trust in restraint of trade which in effect provides for absolute control of the beef trade. It also maintains that the meat packers have a black-list which compels the retailers to submit to their arbitrary rulings. Immediate hearing is asked.

TO EAT NO MEAT.

Lynn, Mass., May 10.—The team drivers' union comprising about 600 members voted last night not to patronize meat stores for 30 days and during that time to abstain from eating beef or any of the products of the beef trust.

Het Loo, May 10.—Queen Wilhelmina is rapidly recovering.

A negative answer may be given in a positive manner.

MORALS

Of Inhabitants of St. Vincent Were Very Bad—Sodom and Gomorrah Recalled.

Washington, May 10.—"My first thought when I read of the destruction of St. Pierre, was that it was simply the story of Sodom and Gomorrah, repeated," said Col. Julius G. Tucker, former United States consul in Martinique and who is today stopping at the Ebbitt House in this city. "The morals of the inhabitants of St. Pierre were very bad," he explained. "Good women were the exception among the natives. I cannot picture the vice and immorality of that place vividly enough. It had to be seen to be understood."

MRS SOFFEL

MUST SERVE TWO YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY.

DORMAN SENTENCED TO HANG, BUT IT IS POSSIBLE

That the Decree Will Be Changed as Dorman Helped to Convict the Biddles.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 10.—Mrs. Kate Soffel, wife of ex-jail warden Peter K. Soffel, who plead guilty to the charge of aiding the murderers, Edward and John Biddle, in the sensational escape from the Allegheny county jail, was today sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Walter Dorman, a member of the Biddle gang, who confessed to participating in the murder of Groceryman Kahney on Mt. Washington, was sentenced to death by hanging. Dorman's state evidence materially aided in the convicting of the Biddles and in all probability the sentence of death will be changed to life imprisonment.

NEW UNION—John Coakley and Benj. Baker have gone to Coshocton to organize a glass blowers' union.

Next Saturday will be souvenir day, Home Tea and Coffee Company, 53 West Main, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Lisbon, May 10.—A dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez today says the Boers are certain to agree to the British terms of peace and that a proclamation to those effect has been set for May 20.

COLD SNAP

Snow in Cleveland Saturday—Ice as Thick as Window Pane Forms in Newark—Damage Done.

Cleveland, O., May 10.—The city was visited by a slight flurry of snow today.

Nyack, N. Y., May 10.—The mercury reached the freezing point here last night. Crops are practically ruined.

Malone, N. Y., May 10.—The coldest May weather in years is being experienced here. The thermometer registered 25 above this morning. The apple and other early crops are probably badly damaged. Snow fell yesterday.

The temperature in Newark and vicinity dropped below the freezing point during Friday night and many people Saturday morning reported the formation of ice as thick as a window pane. Damage has been done to vegetation though to what extent can not be stated. One leading farmer said that in his opinion there would be few berries in this locality this year. He said there would be practically no peach crop but he did not attribute the failure of the peach crop to Friday night's freeze. The peaches are said to have been ruined earlier.

Others who came in during the day think the frost did very little damage as the atmosphere was very dry.

AMERICAN WARSHIP

May be Sent to the Aid of the Stricken People—American Consul There is T. T. Prentiss.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—The State Department has been receiving dispatches from commercial houses in New York asking that a warship be sent at once to Martinique to afford relief. The matter is under consideration.

The Consul at Martinique is Thomas T. Prentiss. He was appointed Consul at Martinique in 1900. The vice consul at Martinique is Amedee Testart, who was appointed from Louisiana in 1898. The latest available figures show that the total population of the island of Martinique is 185,000 people, of whom 25,000 lived in St. Pierre, and according to Mr. Ayme have nearly all perished.

MINERS

STRIKE BEGINS MONDAY IN THE ANTHRACITE FIELD.

CONVENTION WHICH MEETS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Will Determine Whether to Make the Strike Permanent—President Mitche. Confident.

Scranton, Pa., May 10.—John Mitchell president of the United Mine Workers, has assurances today from all parts of the anthracite field that beginning on Monday morning not a shovel full of hard coal will be mined until the miners' convention which meets at Hazleton on Wednesday, has finally decided whether or not to make permanent the provisional strike ordered by the executive committee here last night.

Washington, May 10.—President Compters, of the American Federation of Labor, stated this morning that as an affiliated body of the federation of labor, the miners will receive the unqualified support of that organization in case a strike is called. He said that he, both personally and officially would do all that he could to avoid a strike but that if one was necessary for the interest of the men, the Federation was prepared to go to the last extreme in their support.

INVESTIGATION

Of the Girls' Industrial School is Not in Progress Today—Reorganization is Expected.

Columbus, May 10.—The Girls' Industrial school investigation was suspended today pending the summoning of other witnesses. Those who have followed the testimony thus far predict that the findings will result in the reorganization of the institution.

M'CLAREN'S ENCOUNTER.

Washington, May 10.—The man with whom Senator McLaren of South Carolina, had a personal encounter in the Raleigh hotel was A. A. Gates, a hotel man of Greenville, S. C. No serious damage was done. Politics excited the cause.

Rome, May 10.—A storm is raging on the western coast. Two steamers ashore are total wrecks.

Root's Forced Explanations.

When General Miles intimated to the administration at Washington that the war in the Philippines was conducted with "unusual severity" there was an outbreak of extravagant ill temper at the white house and in the war department.

When the general commanding the army suggested that there was a better way—a way more likely to bring peace with its blessings to the archipelago and to save life and expense to the United States and that if permitted he would be pleased to show the way—he was reviled as a malingerer of the army of which he was nominal commander, and a very presumptuous and silly fellow withal.

For this presumption and alleged "slander of the army" on the part of the commanding General, President Roosevelt was on the point of dismissing him to private life in disgrace when the latter suddenly discovered that such a high handed proceeding would be politically unsafe.

Still the president and the secretary of war persisted in regarding him as a very absurd and insubordinate person who, is tolerated, must at least be silenced.

It has been observed, however, that the suggestion of the maliciously abused General Miles and his disclosure of the fact that there was actual documentary evidence right in the war department of the unusual severity with which the war in the Philippines was conducted, have kept the administration busy explaining ever since.

Every few days Mr. Root reluctantly finds it compatible with the public interest to send in some information in response to a call by some committee, and thus the public is learning from official reports and admissions that there was only too much truth in the intimation by General Miles that the war in the Philippines was conducted with unusual severity.

The public is not listening with much patience to Mr. Root's explanation that it is necessary to burn towns, to kill unarmed prisoners and to adopt the reconcentrado policy of General Weyler. It listens with less patience to the apologies of the secretary for the pursuit of this policy when it learns that the exposures of the truth, or a part of it, has forced the secretary to countermand the reconcentrado orders, if not the extermination orders.

When General Miles turned on the light the administration denounced him as a slanderer. It has since been obliged to confess all that he charged and some other things too.

The man to whom Mr. Root said, "Nobody cares for your opinion on any subject," has had this same Mr. Root in the confessional ever since.

It would be well for certain people who have rushed so conspicuously to the front in making a very unnecessary defence of the army, to express disapproval of the way in which the heroes of both the army and navy have been outrageously traduced and maliciously snubbed by certain politicians that are now entrusted with brief authority.

THE INTENTION IS WHAT SIGNI- FIES.

The Republican party is to be judged by what it attempts to do, not by what it actually does or omits to do. It has attempted to set up an utterly irresponsible military despotism in the Philippines, and in this it has hitherto succeeded fairly well by keeping its doings hidden from the American people.

It has attempted this not because there has been any popular demand for it, for there has been no such demand. The American people have indicated that they are disposed to keep their flag floating over the archipelago, but they have never intimated that they wish to keep it there as a symbol of despotism.

The Republican party is to be judged by what it has attempted to do in the matter of shipping subsidies also. It passed the subsidy grab in the Senate. When the bill went to the House the leaders but thinly disguised their purpose to let it slumber in committee until after the congressional elections, and then, after they were secure in their seats for another two years, to take it up and pass it.

Their tacit admission of this purpose was also an admission that they were well aware not merely that there was no popular demand for any such raid on the treasury, but that there was so much popular hostility to it that the party would almost certainly be beaten at the polls if it should take the responsibility of authorizing it.

The measure fails now not because the Republican party is opposed to it, but because the managers of that party are convinced that its passage would be fatal to that political spoils association. Here again the party is to be judged by its practically confessed intention and not by its performance.

CROCODILE TEARS.

(Chicago Chronicle)

Two or three organs of the navy ring are giving the country a very clever imitation of a crocodile shedding tears over the "inhumanity" of the people toward the late Admiral Sampson.

One would almost believe that they are in earnest. Their slobberings are so genuine in appearance that one would almost be persuaded that they are sincere.

The fact of the matter is, and the two or three organs of the navy ring know it, that Admiral Sampson was treated with great consideration by the American press and people and that not a tithe of the bitterness manifested by his supporters against the real victor of Santiago was shown in any quarter toward him.

It is a fact, furthermore, that if Admiral Schley and his friends had been disposed to make a personal assault upon Admiral Sampson they would not have lacked material to sustain them even if they had gone to lengths not as yet dreamed of.

The most charitable judgment that the American people can pass upon Admiral Sampson is that he was already blighted mentally and physically when the conspirators in the navy department took him up and used him as a cloak for the scoundrelly assaults upon a better man.

GETTING SPOONY.

A New Money Scheme.
A plan to simplify the postoffice money order system is now proposed. The scheme is to reprint all one dollar, two dollar and five dollar treasury notes, coin or silver certificates now in circulation and have the faces of the new bills provided with blank lines and spaces. This would be the ordinary money of the day. Then, when one wishes to send money by mail he takes such a bill from his pocketbook, writes on its face the name of the person or firm to whom it is to go, the city and state and affixes a two cent stamp in the square indicated, cancelling it, with his initials and date, and signs his name on the back. The bill, which previously was negotiable money, is instantly transformed into a personal check on the United States government, as safe for transmission as any bank check. This is inclosed in a letter to the person or firm desired and can be collected by the receiver upon identification at the postoffice named—Argonaut.

China Making Arms.

China is making arms at a great rate, all the Yangtze arsenals being at work full time. At Hankow over 200 workmen are employed in making field guns, Mauser rifles and all kinds of ammunition, including smokeless powder, and at Shanghai an equal number are employed in turning out a like product. As treaty stipulations prohibit the importation of foreign arms into China, the home production, particularly in view of the recent experience, is stimulated to a degree of activity not often witnessed in any Chinese industry.

RECORD

Of The Legislature Will Soon Be

THE SUBJECT FOR REPUBLICAN APOLOGIES.

Doings of the Session About Closing Would Have Been Worse, But for Democratic Opposition.

Columbus, May 10.—The Seventy-sixth General Assembly of Ohio is practically a thing of the past, and now the chief business of the Republican statesmen and press during the next two years will be to apologize for its record when it cannot be dodged. The worst of the situation for the followers of Hanna, Foraker and the other Republican factional leaders is that the apologizing and dodging must begin immediately, with no "breathing spell" for an intermission. No sooner will the legislature adjourn than the preliminary state campaign will open. The Republicans will have to defend their legislative record in their state platform to be adopted at Cleveland a few weeks hence, and this performance alone is enough to keep them guessing in the interim. After that more specific apologies will be necessary, while the Democrats on the stump and through the Democratic newspapers of the state are exposing the record of their opponents in sins both of commission and omission. The Republicans will find themselves constantly on the defensive, and it will be interesting indeed to note what kind of a defense they will be able to elaborate.

It is notable that in those things in respect to which the state administration claims to have achieved success during the present session, it has in reality failed to realize its ambition; and at the same time in respect to those other measures which it projected but failed to put through, its failure constituted its salvation. In other words, bad as the record is, if the Republicans had had their way and it had not been for firm Democratic opposition, it would have been still worse. Where the record has been redeemed it has been accomplished by the minority, and in this regard the Democrats of both houses have frequently held the interests of the people far above those of mere politics. Democratic opposition prevented the Republicans from putting through the original canal steal. The state administration carefully felt its way in this matter, fearing to become identified with the scandal, but privately favoring the abandonment of the canals and doing what it could to promote it. The firm stand taken by the minority alone prevented the consummation of the deal. In every case where the minority could avail anything its powers have been put to a good purpose. These powers failed only when the Republican factions united in a common cause of plunder, as in the Cincinnati schemes for the benefit of Cox and the Cleveland schemes for the benefit of Hanna. Whenever the Republican factions adopted the policy of "you tickle me and I'll tickle you," as in the instances cited, the Democratic minority was from force of circumstances powerless to protect the public interest. The more light that is shed on the history of this legislature, however, the more it will appear that the Democratic members have justified the hopes of their constituents and exercised a most salutary influence over legislation predisposed to corruption and tainted with false notions of government.

The Republican claims of actual accomplishments at this session, when boiled down, will be found to pertain only to the enactment of the administration tax bills. Yet they are obliged to admit that the laws thus enacted were not those that the administration caused to be introduced. They will also be forced to admit later on, as formerly pointed in this correspondence, that Boss Hanna's blue pencil extracted the vitals from the administration bills so far as they adversely affected corporations, even before they were introduced. After that event they were further mutilated, notably in the Willis bill by taxing corporations only on their issued instead of their authorized capital stock, as at first proposed; until, when created upon the statute books, these creatures of Republican bossism could hardly be recognized by their own authors. As the several tax laws now stand nobody knows how much revenue they will produce nor how soon a deficit will be created under their operation. Nobody knows what effect they will have in the general distribution of the burdens of taxation, and, as a matter of fact, nobody appears to care. The Republicans have made such a botch of the whole business that their only anxiety is to get away and cover their tracks. In order to do the latter they profess a satisfaction over their tax legislation record, that they do not feel, looking helplessly to the future to show them some way out of the muddle.

The way the Republicans have dodged in and out among the anti-saloon league people and the liquor interests is one of the really funny things of the session. The local option bill was passed, after being rendered worse than useless by being made ridiculous. The dow tax was held as a club over the heads of the saloon men to keep them in submission as long as possible and finally was permitted to remain exactly as in former years. The Republicans posed first as temperance reformers and then as deep sympathizers with the down-trodden saloon element, and so rapid were these lightning changes that neither party for whose benefit they were performed knew what to expect next. Both have been in a measure betrayed and both feel the natural resentment of men who have been made the sport of "practical politics."

One of the closing inequities of the session, and one which will be heard from later on when the people feel its burdens, was the enactment by the house of the senate bill providing for municipal boards of equalization.

The bill was passed under the guise of a political ripper, but in reality it is a "commercial ripper," passed in the interests of the great quasi-public corporations of the state.

The bill provides that upon the request of the county auditor the state board of assessors and appraisers, composed of the auditor, governor and attorney general, may appoint a board of equalization for any municipality within the county in question.

This board is to serve for a period of five years and its members will receive a salary of not more than $250 per month or $3000 per year. Under the operation of the bill it is possible for every little town and city in the state to be inflicted with a board appointed by state officials, which will serve year in and year out at an annual cost of about $20,000 per year. The bill makes no distinction as to the size of the city or town in the salary of the board, but leaves this to the discretion of the county commissioners the maximum fees only being named in the bill.

Keep The Balance Up.

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite or to get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength and endurance.

Americans Who Move.

Study of the recent United States census shows some remarkably interesting facts and among them the one that we are the greatest nation of rolling stones on the earth, but notwithstanding that fact we succeed in gathering the mass of material prosperity. The official figures show that out of a native born population of 65,843,302 there are 13,533,631 living in states different from those in which they were born—that is, more than one person out of five has left the state of his birth to seek his fortune elsewhere.

If we count the 10,400,736 foreign born residents, we find that about one-third of the population has moved from the state or country of birth. These figures show our mobility to be in the ratio of ten to one as compared with that of Europe.

The state of New York has sent out 1,300,000 of her children, who are now residing in other states, and has received from other states in their stead 524,000 residents. Vermont has the most remarkable record, which shows that she has children living in other states equal in number to one-half of her present population.

A man never knows what a large following he has until he leads the procession in a hearse.

STORIES OF SAMPSON.

Acts That Were Characteristic of the Naval Commander.

GREAT LOVER OF BOAT RACING.

How the Rear Admiral's Delight in It Brought a Prisoner Good Luck The Only Time He Ever Swore—His Fondness For a Joke.

Only once in his naval career was the late Rear Admiral William T. Sampson heard to use an oath, and then the expletive was called forth by an excess of the emulation he had himself inspired among his command, which was occasioning a temporary disregard of orders, says Leslie's Weekly. From the first the captain had encouraged boat racing, and the record made by both the large and the gig of the Frisco was exceptionally fine. Two of the men who composed the crews which won the prizes at the international regatta held at Norfolk in 1893 now lie buried beneath the wreck of the Maine. One of the numerous trial races which the captain encouraged was in process off Mare island between the captain's gig and a boat belonging to the United States steamer Alert, when orders were received to bring the San Francisco into dock for cleaning. The tide was strong, and it was only by hard pulling against it that the operation of bringing the vessel in could be accomplished. In vain the captain reiterated the orders to pull in! There was no time to be lost, but excitement over the race was at high pitch, and all hands were leaning over the ship's rail watching and cheering on the battle of oars. The imperturbable captain's patience was at length exhausted. "D—n it," he exclaimed, "the ship is astward the tide, and I cannot get a man to pull or an officer to give an order!" Just then a shout was borne to his ears. "The Alert's boat is ahead!"

"What!" exclaimed Sampson, his own deep interest in the race breaking through his irritation at the prevalent lack of discipline. "I don't believe it!" And when the joyous applause on board told that the San Francisco again held the palm of victory the captain turned to his first lieutenant, proud and exultant, saying: "I told you so! I knew our men would win!"

Another incident which evidenced his interest in these trials of speed occurred while the San Francisco was stationed at Conquimbo, Chile. The Fourth of July had been celebrated by a regatta, and the crew of Captain Sampson's gig had beaten the English boatmen of her majesty's ships Melbourne and Lifeey. A few weeks after the Garnet, another English vessel, arrived, and it was determined to "take the American down" a little. The Garnet carried a boat of superior equipment built in Malta for racing purposes, which had never been beaten. But as it was to make the victory more certain the crew practiced daily, and the challenge to the San Francisco was not extended until the very morning before the English vessel was to sail, thus leaving no time for practice to the intended antagonists.

But the challenge was accepted, with the stipulation that the race was to extend as far as Pelicanos island, around it and back again to shore, a distance of four miles. After some hesitation the English boat's crew agreed. On the afternoon of the day of challenge Captain Sampson was seated in his cabin when his cockswain entered.

"Captain," he began, with deep earnestness, "do you want us to win this race?"

"Why, certainly," responded Sampson.

"Well, captain, one of my men is under arrest. I have spoken to the first lieutenant, and he says he can't be released."

"That being the case—the man a prisoner—I don't see what I can do for you," returned the captain gravely. "But I can't do without him," pleaded the cockswain, with an insistence rarely shown to a naval commander. "If you don't let that man go, captain, the Englishmen will beat us!"

Sampson turned suddenly and touched his bell, and as his orderly entered he said briefly, "Tell Lieutenant—that I release the prisoner until this race is won." And the race was won. The English racer being left far behind, even out of sight. The United States steamer Baltimore signaled her approbation by firing her Gattings.

"Rear Admiral Sampson was generally credited with being a rather austere man," said a naval officer to a reporter of the New York Tribune. "But there is a story about him which proves his fondness for making a joke. This story says that the rear admiral when a young man once entered a barroom of a little hotel where, unknown to him, a group of roisterers were about to start a cockfight. As he entered and was recognized one of the group cried out mockingly:

"Now we are all right. The police won't dare to raid us now, for we have Sampson with us, and he will play a dozen such Philistines rather than let them spoil sport, won't you, Sampson?"

"The young naval officer, not liking so much familiarity and having heard so often that he was sick of it, replied quickly to his noisy interrogator, so the story goes:

"I guess I could take care of a dozen. Brown, if you would lend me one of your jawbones for a weapon."

THE W. C. T. U.

At the meeting on Tuesday, April 6, the devotional half hour was in charge of Mrs. W. W. Anderson, who read for the Scripture lesson the 90th Psalm, first and second verses, "Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations." "Before the mountains were brought forth, or even Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting Thou art God."

After singing several selections the experiences closed with prayer. Mrs. John Gaines presided at the organ. Promptly at 3 o'clock the president called the meeting to order for business. The secretary called the roll, which was responded to with a Scripture verse.

This being the first meeting of the month reports of officers and superintendents were in order. Of the many departments of work connected with the W. C. T. U. a number of them are carried on very effectively in Newark Union.

Mrs. Cool reported that the L. T. L. had donated $5.00 to the fountain which is soon to be placed in the park.

The meeting was well attended, and there was a great deal of interest manifested.

The Parlor Meeting, which is mentioned on the program to take place next Tuesday will be postponed until May 20. A Progressive reading led by Mrs. Brown, will be on the program for next Tuesday. A full attendance is desired.

A thinker, who has made a study of the criminal classes and their reforms, says: "The conclusion at which I have arrived, after a life spent observing the operation and effect of all conceivable prison systems is that in all of them, the best and worst alike, the men who are saved are saved by love, and by nothing else. Love and law are inseparable, and the greatest confusion of thought and action arrive from their separation."

The application to have Mrs. George Avery, executrix of the estate of Geo. Avery, file a new bond, was overruled in the Probate Court this morning.

BY A CROW

MR. PARK HARRIS' WATCH WAS STOLEN.

Bird Attracted by Bean Watch Fob, Carried it to Tree Top—Tree Chopped Down.

(Utica News-Herald.)

Frank Harris, residing northeast of Utica, had a peculiar experience a few days ago with a big black crow.

Mr. Harris was plowing for corn on his farm, and as the sun came pouring down its heat, he pulled off his vest and laid it on the ground. The vest contained a valuable gold watch which had a fob attached to it. On the end of the fob was a charm in the shape of a seahorse. The fob and charm were hanging from the vest pocket in plain view.

Harris had scarcely plowed half around the field when he noticed a big black crow at his vest. He watched and wondered what was in his vest that might attract the attention of a crow. In a few minutes the crow started to fly and the truth dawned upon Harris. He realized that the crow has been led to believe that the seahorse was something good to eat. He could see the crow flying far above him with the sea bean, fob and watch. He followed the crow for some distance and finally it stopped in the top of a large oak tree.

For some reason, better known to the crow he left the watch in a safe place in the top of the tree. Now was the time for Harris to get in his work, and there wasn't much play about his work, either. He tried to climb the tree, but it was too large. What was he to do? He couldn't shake such an oak as this. Becoming weary and out of patience he decided that the only way to get his watch was to cut the tree down. He obtained an ax and began to chop. For several hours he chopped before he felled the oak.

But finally he got the best of the tree and it fell to the ground with a crash. He got his watch, however, and it is in as good shape as though the crow had never borrowed it.

A BOSTON LADY IS MARVELOUSLY RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. PAINE'S Celery Compound

Was Her Deliverer from Nervous Prostration, Insomnia, Mental Depression, and Weakness of Her Digestive Organism.

A Special Message of Comfort for Sick and Dependent Women.

Mrs. F. L. Bernhardt, 382 Newbury St., Boston, Mass., found herself in an extremely perilous condition of health after a surgical operation. Her touching story, written for the benefit of other sufferers, is as follows:—

"It is with a feeling of extreme gratitude and thankfulness and a humane desire to benefit others, that I write out my own experience in the use of Prof. Edward E. Phelps' wonderful preparation, called Paine's Celery Compound. Owing to a fall from a horse several years ago, I became a nervous invalid, and last year I entered a hospital where I was operated upon by a famous New York surgeon.

"The surgical operation was successful, but nervous prostration followed. A summer in Newport with the best medical attendance failed to restore my nerves to their normal condition. I was absolutely unable to digest any solid food, and this weak condition of my digestive organs, combined with insomnia, caused the deepest depression. A constant tenderness and soreness in the region of my stomach with a dull headache and extreme weakness created a feeling of helplessness from which I was unable to rise.

"It was in this melancholy frame of mind that I chanced to meet a Boston lawyer who said to me, 'I was almost in the condition that you are in now, and after spending hundreds of dollars without receiving any benefit I was induced by a friend to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, which I did, and it cured me completely when everything else had failed.'

"I was rather skeptical about trying a patent medicine, but I ordered a bottle from my druggist, and began to take it according to directions. Much to my surprise, I slept soundly at night and did not awake in the morning with the usual dull headache. Then, too, I developed an appetite for solid food, and soon I was able to digest a course dinner without any unpleasant sensations. I am now completely restored to health after about 2 months' use of the Compound.

"Sympathizing with all who may be suffering as I did, I take this method of reaching strangers, after writing personal letters to my particular friends."

LECTURE

On Christian Science at Auditorium
Next Thursday Night by Edward A. Kimball.

It is undoubtedly true that most people do not know what Christian Science is. In view of this fact, First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city, has issued the following invitation:

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newark, Ohio, desires the presence of yourself and friends at a Lecture on Christian Science

by Edward A. Kimball, of Chicago, on Thursday evening, May fifteenth,
at eight o'clock.
The Auditorium.

Admission free
This lecture is not given to proselyte its hearers, but for the purpose of presenting Christian Science to the public through one who knows whereof he speaks.

The opposition to Christian Science arises from a misconception of it. If you talk with one who knows something of its practicality you hear him say: "It is the most satisfying thing in the world today. It brings happiness to man, through purification of thought, and makes him better every way, physically, morally and spiritually."

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city, asks the public to stop condemning a subject it knows nothing whatever about, to stop listening to people's opinion of a subject they have had no experience with.

If one wished to know something of mathematics, he would not go to a man who had simply heard about what it taught, but he would go to a man who had practical experience with numbers, one who had demonstrated the rules. Let every one do the same regarding Christian Science. It is a science, and no one is wise enough to tell what it teaches until he has demonstrated it.

A Windy Tale.
Because the umbrella is the most unpopular article in ordinary use the announcement that it is doomed to go will be of universal importance and gratification. It is by means of small boxes containing compressed air that the umbrella is to be superseded. These boxes are made to fit inside any hat, having a small tube adapted to the center of their summit, says the Scottish-American. By the simple pressure of a button placed at the side of the hat the compressed air may be allowed to escape from the tube, and by a most ingenious arrangement in stead of flowing upward it is made to expand all round, like those fountains which form like a ball. The rain falling on the compressed air is of course compelled to rebound according to the well known laws of gravity and resistance and, as it does with the umbrella, falls around the happy possessor of this most useful contrivance. After the rain is over another touch at the button deprives the compressed air of its outward expansion.

Fooled His Relatives.
A rich and eccentric man who died the other day in Berlin left a will which was to be opened immediately and a codicil to be opened after the funeral. The will said, "Every member of my family who shall attend my funeral at my funeral is to receive 300 marks." As a result the funeral was attended by his housekeeper, a distant cousin. On the codicil being opened it was found to enact that the residue of his fortune was to be divided among those who, notwithstanding the loss of the 300 marks, attended his funeral. Hence the housekeeper gets all, but the heirs threaten to dispute the will.

Rhodes Quoted Tennyson.
In spite of the vast numbers who have read "In Memoriam," how many have recalled a passage which Cecil Rhodes may or may not have had consciously in mind when he said as he lay dying, "So little does; so much to do." In the "In Memoriam" we find:
So many worlds, so much to do;
So little does, such things to be.

THE LOVER FINDS A WAY.

Fix on a year's probation:
We're both too young, they say.
She's at her education,
And I must go away.
So here I'm on the bring,
Bound for some hour's spa.
Or here remote and tiny
To please Pauline's papa.
If I could drop a line each night—
But, no! He said I mustn't write.

Today we're due at Queenstown:
A boat week old my vow.
I wish at Pauline's town,
The time a year from now!
Cope up! I'm quite unable
To try—yet just to say,
"I love you dear," by cable,
Would drive these blues away.
But—no! the obdurate sire—
I promised her I wouldn't write.

One of the most interesting meetings ever held by Cedar Camp, No. 4727, Modern Woodmen of America, was that held last Wednesday evening, May 7th, at which time 15 applications were balloted on and accepted and 5 candidates, E. A. Fox, C. N. Hey, H. F. Boone, Nicholas Charles and J. H. Young were led through the mysteries of Woodcraft, and insurance to the amount of $12,000 issued for the protection of their families. On the night of May 14th, there will be about 40 candidates initiated as a termination of the contest between Venerable Consul O. B. Young and Rees R. Jones in the member-getting contest. At this time refreshments will be served to the visitors who will be present from the camps at Coshocton, Zanesville, Alexandria and other out of town camps. Cedar Camp lacks but twenty-five in securing the State Banner and a gala time is expected.

A man or woman who joins a secret organization simply for the personal benefits he or she may receive does not possess the true spirit of fraternity and will not make desirable members. It should be each one's hope that the time may never arise when they will need financial assistance due to the infirmities of life. The fact that one is providing for those contingencies when they do arise by joining fraternal organizations should be ample compensation for time and money spent aside from the satisfaction of every right-thinking person has who knows he has contributed, even in some slight degree, to the comfort and happiness of his less fortunate fellows. Indeed, the latter fact should be, and is, the animated spirit of all true fraternal organizations and the disposition to sink self for the welfare of the whole is the animating idea. One possessing such a disposition cannot help being happy in this world, so far as happiness is attainable by human beings and is certainly paving the way to happiness in the world to come.—Bundle of Sticks.

The Masonic quartet, consisting of Messrs. Jennings, Reynolds, Young and Dr. Arndt, rendered several pleasing selections. At half past ten delicious refreshments were served and at a late hour one of the most successful inspections of the lodge came to a close.—Mt. Vernon Banner.

Masonic.

At the meeting of Warren Chapter, R. A. M., held Monday night the Mark Master degree was conferred on five candidates and other business of importance was transacted. A special meeting of the Chapter will be held one week from next Monday night.

Newark lodge, No. 97, F. & A. M., held a special meeting Friday evening, which was the occasion of the inspection of the lodge by A. F. Crayton, District Lecturer. There was a large number of members and visitors present, representing about every lodge in Licking county. The attendance was so large that the main hall was not adequate for their accommodation. The Fellow Craft degree was conferred on one candidate and the Master Mason degree upon two candidates. The work began at 5:30, and finished with a banquet. Newark lodge is passing a prosperous year and the enthusiasm in the work and the efficiency of its execution is to be commended. After the banquet the W. M. A. Stasel, acting as toastmaster, carried out an interesting program, the principal speaker being Brother W. M. Cunningham, whose remarks were happy and appropriate. The toasts were mostly confined to visiting masters and past masters of the lodge of the county. This meeting being so generally attended by masters of lodges and past masters, action looking to the organization of a lodge of another past masters was taken, and Brother W. M. Cunningham was elected president of the same with instructions to call a meeting for full and permanent organization. Brother Cunningham was elected president of a similar organization some 20 years ago, and has been permitted to decline for some years. It is now prepared to revive it in all its vigor. Of this organization all past masters will be members. It is readily seen by such a body that the entire Masonic community of the county will be brought in contact. It was also proposed that the Masons of Licking county have a general meeting and picnic this summer, and to that end the present Masters of lodges of the county were appointed a committee to arrange the details of the same. The work of this meeting has certainly sown the seed of much good to the order in general.

OLD MAYAN SCULPTORS. COLLINS & SON DRUGGISTS.

How They Carved the Great Monuments of Prehistoric America.
Many persons have wondered at the excellence of the carving which ornaments the prehistoric monuments that lie scattered and in ruins over a large part of Mexico and Central America, especially since it is known that the ancient peoples who erected them were unacquainted with the use of iron and had only roughly shaped tools of obsidian to work with. Mr. George B. Gordon of the Peabody Museum at Harvard, however, who has spent a large part of the last ten years in studying the remarkable ruins of the prehistoric Maya city of Copan, in Honduras, and who has given particular attention to the methods of the ancient sculptors, has brought forward a number of facts which seem to throw light upon a question that has long interested the archaeologist.

In his recent report on the great hieroglyphic stairway, which is one of the chief features of Copan, Mr. Gordon points out that, contrary to the methods of much of our modern work, it is probable that the elaborate carving of the stairway was done not before, but after the various blocks of stone had been set in place. In illustration Mr. Gordon cites the careful way in which a piece of carving occupying two or more blocks of stone is fitted together, often with a skill which would do credit to the most up to date stonemasons.

The hieroglyphic stairway takes its name from a series of "glyphs," or picture writings, which run all the way along the face of the steps. Here, Mr. Gordon notes, the carving is very perfect and regular until one reaches the ends of the stairs, where the balustrades apparently interfered with the freedom of the workmen, and the carving, therefore, is distinctly inferior, a fact which apparently proves Mr. Gordon's contention conclusively, since if the glyphs had been cut before the steps were laid no such irregularity would be noticeable.

The stone used at Copan is a variety of trachyte and was brought from the hills surrounding the valley in which the city of Copan was built. It is a rather soft material and correspondingly easy to carve, but weathers easily. The Mayan sculptor, however, got over this difficulty by covering his carvings with a layer of stucco, which could be more perfectly modeled when soft and which soon hardened into a surface which was afterward richly colored in accordance with the character of the design.

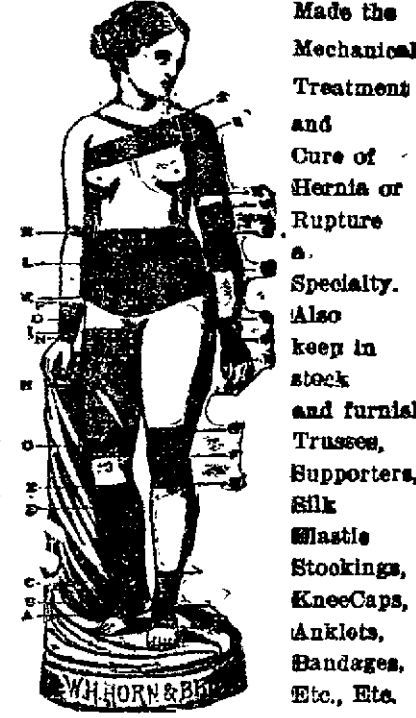

Odd Titles of Rulers.

Among the seventy-one titles of the sultan of Turkey are "Abdul Hamid, the Eternally Victorious," "the Eternally Smiling," "the Eternally Invincible," "Distributor of Crowns to the Heroes Seated on the Thrones" and "Shadow of God on Earth."

The shah of Persia has also many pompous titles, among them being "Luminous Star of the Firmament," "The One Star That Gives Light to the Terrestrial Planet," "Pivot of the Universe" and "Magnetic Center of the Globe."

The funniest title, however, is borne by the ruler of Ava, a small kingdom on the borders of Afghanistan. This monarch signs all his decrees as follows: "Signed and sealed by the king of kings, whom all the world should obey, because he preserves life in all human beings, because he regulates the seasons, because he is the father of the sun and because he is the king of the twenty-four umbrellas."

In order to convince the skeptical that these are no unmeaning words twenty-four umbrellas are always kept in the king's private closet.

Kidnaping and Murder Still Extant in the Caucasus.

The manners and customs of the people of the Caucasus have not changed to a great extent since the country was subdued by Russia. One of the relics of the good old times to which the Caucasians especially cling is the custom of kidnaping the women whom they desire to make their wives. Recently a case of this kind resulted in a tragic end. A prominent inhabitant of the little Caucasian town of Katubagau named Ismail Oglu Oki tried to kidnap the sister of his best friend's wife while his friend was absent from home. The girl resisted his attempt to carry her off, aided by her married sister. The baffled lover drew his sword and inflicted dangerous wounds on both the ladies. At this moment his friend returned, and, enraged at finding what had occurred, killed Ismail on the spot. Then he cut off Ismail's head and carried it around to show the neighbors what a fearful revenge he had taken.

In the same district a young nobleman desired to marry the daughter of a neighboring landowner and invited the girl with her parents to a grand ball given at his castle. During the evening he found an opportunity of decoying the girl into a secluded part of the house, where she was seized by his men and placed in a carriage. The prince joined her and, in spite of the girl's entreaties, started out to drive to a place where they could be married without much delay.

The girl's father, on finding that his lost daughter had disappeared with his daughter, gave chase and, being on horseback, overtook the carriage. He shot the nobleman without ado and took his daughter home. The nobleman, however, had won her heart during the drive, and the girl was reluctant to marry the man of whom her father approved, but the stern parent insisted on the wedding taking place at once. The bride appeared in the church pale, but cool and collected. During the ceremony she drew a dagger and stabbed the bridegroom to the heart. Afterward she committed suicide.—London Mail.

FAT NERVES.

A whirl of excitement was recently caused among scientists by the discovery of "how nerves act".

Healthy nerves are fat nerves. It is fat in the core of a nerve that by hardening and softening creates nerve action.

Maybe this explains why Scott's Emulsion has always been such a remarkable remedy for nervousness.

Scott's Emulsion makes fat nerves. It feeds them with fat. Good for all forms of nervousness and for neuralgia.

PAIN IN THE BACK

A Sure Sign of Kidney Trouble—Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy Will Cure You.

Pain in the back is a never failing sign of kidney disease; another sure sign is the condition of the urine; if you have a pain in the back then look to the condition of your urine. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine; after it has stood for 24 hours if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, pale or discolored, stringy orropy, your kidneys and bladder are in dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences may prove fatal!

F. C. Wilcox of 559 New Britain avenue, Hartford, Conn., says:

"I had a frightful pain in my back, the result of kidney trouble. My physician seemed powerless to relieve me. I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy; it helped me wonderfully, and in a short time cured me completely."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer on the system. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often, especially at night, and drives away that scalding pain in passing water and in a remarkably short time makes you well and strong.

All druggists sell Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy in the NEW 50 CENT SIZE and the regular $1.00 size bottles.

MONUMENT

TO THE MEMORY OF FALLEN SOLDIERS AT HEBRON.

Corner Stone Laid Thursday—The Dedication Ceremony Will Take Place Decoration Day.

Hebron, Ohio, May 10.—The old veterans here did a noble act which exemplifies more than anything else that could be done, their love for their fallen comrades. When they proposed erecting a stone monument in the cemetery in memory of the fallen heroes of the Civil War, assisted by a few of the citizens, a small sum of money was raised, but not sufficient to meet the expenses. Through the kindness, however, of Mr. J. Moran, of New York, superintendent of construction of the smoke stack of the power house of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake & Newark Traction company, and his assistant Mr. Teddy they were enabled to erect the monument. These gentlemen presented the stone and did the work at a trifling cost. The monument will be thirty feet high, with six foot square base. At a height of ten feet it assumed a round form and tapers to a point at the top. Mr. Moran and Mr. Teddy were highly complimented and given much credit for their efficient work and assistance in commemorating the monument to the fallen heroes. Thursday afternoon the corner stone was laid. Mrs. D. P. Burch placing a copy of Licking county's best paper, the "Advocate" of May 7, together with quite a number of coins, presented by those present, in the corner block, which was then cemented and it is hoped that it will be preserved until it crumbles to Mother Earth. The monument will be dedicated on Decoration Day, May 30, with appropriate exercises and it is requested by the committee that everybody assist, and see that no Veteran's grave is neglected, and with the flowers of spring, place thereon the flag which their comrades ever kept flying. Credit is also due to Messrs. George and Spencer Holtsberry, Henry Chidester, and William Eckelberry, for the active part they took in having the work so satisfactorily done.

RAILROAD NEWS

The Fuller Syndicate.

Baltimore, May 10.—It is reported in financial circles that the Fuller syndicate, which has just secured control of the western Maryland railroad, is negotiating for the purchase of the Maryland & Pennsylvania road. Alexander Brown, who represents the majority stockholders, declined today to discuss the rumor. Color is lent to the report by the fact that during the past four weeks the stock has steadily advanced in price. The value of the property to the Fuller syndicate lies in the fact that it would supply a tide water connection much quicker than a new one could be built, one of the privileges enjoyed by it being the right to use the Belt line tunnel of the B. & O. railroad.

The Maryland and Pennsylvania extends from Baltimore to York, Pa., a distance of 80 miles.

"I doubt if Peruna has a rival in the remedies recommended to-day for catarrh of the system. A remedy that will cure catarrh of the stomach will cure the same condition of the mucous membrane anywhere. I have found it the best remedy I have ever tried for catarrh, and believing it worthy my endorsement I gladly accord it.—Mattie L. Guild.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. W. P. Brownlow, Congressman from Tennessee, writes from Washington, D. C., the following:

"I have suffered from catarrh of the stomach for several years, and for the past twelve months was in an exceedingly critical condition. My attention was called to your Peruna, and I began to use it, and my improvement was noticeable after the first three days. I have taken three bottles of the medicine and I feel satisfied that I am now almost, if not permanently, cured. In connection with the Peruna, I have used your Manalin for biliousness and torpid liver. I regard it as the best medicine for this purpose that I have ever used. Having been benefited so much myself, I give you this statement, that others may be likewise benefited."—W. P. Brownlow, M. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir, Clumber No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2385 Polk street, N. E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

This being the last meeting of the season the retiring treasurer, and secretary were presented with a beautiful souvenir. Also each lady was kindly remembered by the president. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

The ladies of the Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church were pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Long on Columbia Heights. The following program was rendered:
Devotional exercises, Mrs. George Lippencott, President.
Foreign topic—India, Mrs. Edward Bates.

Home topic—Freedmen, considered in reports of the annual meeting held at Granville, Mrs. Orrie E. Starr, Miss Genevieve Forry.
Doxology, Lord's prayer.

On Friday evening some of the little friends of Mona Burg gave her a surprise party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. George P. Webb. The little folks enjoyed a fine supper, and from 4 till 7 they had a very merry time. The occasion of the party is the fact that Mona is soon to return to her home in Montana. She has been in Newark for the past two years, with her aunt, Mrs. Webb, and has endeared herself to her schoolmates by her sweet disposition. The little guests were Bernice Hatch, Marguerite Matlicks, Dorothy Edmiston, Sarah Walker, Margaret, Amy, and Dorothy Kuster and Corinne Miller.

The Junior Luther League gave a very entertaining and successful Japanese Tea at St. Paul's church last evening. It was the Juniors first public function and the manner in which they cared for the large crowd was most satisfactory. The little ladies and gentlemen were dressed in Japanese costumes and served in a

A party of young people enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Amy Everett on Friday evening.

A number of the ladies of the Aid Society of the German Salem church surprised Mrs. Christian Gungl Thursday evening, at her home 3 South First street. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Gungl, and her friends and neighbors to the number of about thirty called on her and assisted in celebrating the event. The evening was passed in social conversation music, games, and in the discussion of a sumptuous supper.

AUDITORIUM

TRUSTEES REJECT OFFER FROM COLUMBUS MEN.

And Reappoint Manager Rosebraugh. Figures that Show the House is Well Managed.

A special meeting of the trustees of the Memorial Building was held Friday evening in response to the call of the president, those present being Messrs. W. J. Henderson, George Ball, Captain Hamilton, Edward Kibler, Dan L. Jones and Judge Jonathan Rees. Judge S. M. Hunter was unavoidably absent.

The meeting was called to order by president pro tem Jones when Mr. Kibler reported that the purpose of the meeting was the consideration of an offer from Messrs. Bodie & Heffner of Columbus, to lease the Auditorium for the term of three years. Mr. Bodie made the following offer for Mr. Heffner who, it is understood, in the event of the acceptance of the proposition, would have been the lessee. The Columbus men asked the trustees to put the theatre in first-class condition, pay all the necessary repairs during the three years lease, pay for heating and lighting and janitor service, the electric lighting to be done by the management. Under such conditions the Columbus men offered $1,000 for the first year, $1,200 for the second year and $1,500 for the third year.

Treasurer Edward Kibler read a report for the theatrical season of 1899-1900 which showed that Manager Rosebraugh had paid to the Trustees $2250 and that for the year 1901-02 he had paid the sum of $2227, this season covering the time of the smallpox quarantine.

Upon motion, the secretary was instructed to notify Messrs. Bodie & Heffner that their offer had been rejected.

Upon motion, Messrs. Henderson and Kibler were appointed to contract with Mr. Rosebraugh for the season of 1902-03 as per resolution adopted by the Board in November, 1901.

There has been more or less talk about a proposed change in the management of the Auditorium and those who are always ready to criticize every thing and everybody have clamored for a change. Some have insisted that the house was not being run to its financial advantage, while others have held that not enough high class attractions have been brought to Newark. Some people are ignorant of the fact that it is more difficult to get a first class show for a "one night's stand" than it is for a "week's stand." Then again it has been demonstrated that some of the attractions that are not classed as "high class" have been the best payers for the trustees.

The offer made by these city theatrical men for the house shows conclusively that the Auditorium has been very successfully managed and when the offer was made, the trustees did well to make another contract with Mr. Rosebraugh.

Thus the management is kept at home where it belongs. Mr. Rosebraugh has been in the business long enough to know it from start to finish and the class of attractions which he has brought to the city this past season compares favorably with any city in Ohio. The attractions have been far better than any other city the size of Newark.

Mr. Rosebraugh has made money for the trustees who represent the city and township and has given shows for all classes. Some other person might have done better, but we doubt it. He has successfully managed the Auditorium and the trustees made no mistake in re-appointing him. The Advocate extends its congratulations and best wishes to Manager Rosebraugh.

LETTER TO YOUNG LADIES

From the Treasurer of the Young People's Christian Temperance Association.

Miss Elizabeth Caine, Fond du Lac, Wis.

The advent of womanhood is fraught with dangers which even careful mothers too often neglect. Some of the dangers are belated and suppressed menstruation. "The Lily droops on its stem and dies before its beauty is unfolded." It is well demonstrated in Miss Caine's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certain to assist nature to perform her regular duties, and young women who are irregular, or have any ailment peculiar to their sex should hasten to commence the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then sit down and write a letter to Mrs. Pinkham telling her all about their ailment; she will give the case careful and motherly consideration, and advise just what to do to get well; she considers such letters strictly confidential; she will charge nothing, and thousands of young women owe their present health and happiness to her advice.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for advice. Address Lynn, Mass., giving full particulars.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to tell you and all the young ladies of the country, how grateful I am to you for the benefits I have received from using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for eight months from suppressed menstruation, and it affected my entire system until I became weak and debilitated, and at times felt that I had a hundred aches in as many places. I only used the Compound for a few weeks, but it wrought a change in me which I felt from the very beginning. I have been very regular since, have no pains, and find that my entire body is as if it was renewed. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to everybody."—MISS ELIZABETH CAINE, 69 W. Division St., Fond du Lac, Wis.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance for woman's ills of every nature.

When you ask for Mrs. Pinkham's medicine at your druggist, do not be persuaded to take something else said to be "just as good." Nothing in the world is so good for women's ills.

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. Trinity Church Recital.

The recital at the Trinity Episcopal church on Friday evening was a musical feat for all who were so fortunate as to be present. Mr. Reynolds is a master of the organ, and with the able assistance of Mrs. Gertrude Reynolds Isaacs, soprano, Mr. Will H. Reynolds baritone and cornet, and Mr. Frank Reynolds, trombone, he was able to give a recital full of variety, and all most excellent.

Mr. Frank and Mr. Will Reynolds are too well known to need comment, but Mrs. Isaacs was heard by many for the first time. She has a voice of infinite sweetness, highly sympathetic, and she sings with exquisite taste.

The audience was very appreciative, but not so large as the concert deserved. A music lover is always sorry to see one vacant seat at a good concert.

BEGGING FOR FUNDS.

THE FASHIONS.

White is seen in all kinds of costumes and is by far more stylish than any color.

Irish lace boleros lend a touch of elegance to simply made blouses of lousine or peau de cygne.

Heavy white madras with a narrow Persian stripe is smart among the season's shirt waist materials.

Little shallow scallops or tiny flounces cut in the form of miniature vandykes decorate some of the newest skirts.

The newest lace mittens have their owner's initials executed in a highly decorative woven design upon the back of the hand.

With the white blouse the modish accompaniment is the fastened with a heavily stitched and fastened with a brass, kid or pearl buckle.

It is a fad of the moment to put a touch of lace trimming on every article of clothing, and up to date stockings have a lace insertion finish woven in the design.

Cornflowers are being revived and will be conspicuous on summer hats. Roses are found in every shade. Pansy blossoms are made into flower toques, trimmed with deep violet ribbon, and look very handsome.

FOUNDLINGS IN DEMAND.

Curious Inquiries Made For Castor Babies.

"It is surprising to discover what a rushing mail order business for babies could be transacted," writes R. E. MacAlarney in Ainslee's Magazine for May. "Inquiries for babies come to the State Charities association and the girls from all over the country. Recently the mayor of a flourishing Massachusetts city wrote for a baby, enclosing plans and specifications for the same which included 'blue eyes, light hair girl, anywhere from fifteen months to two years old.'"

"From a colored family in Pittsburg was received a request for a boy any where under two years, not black must be light colored."

"From as far west as Denver and as far south as Alabama come the requests, and if investigation proves the parties to be really responsible the foundling child is legally adopted. Unless the child is legally adopted it is always under the supervision of the organization that indentured it. Rarely does it happen, however, that the child is taken away, even if it is not legally adopted. Legal adoption is an expensive affair for parents of moderate means, the class that usually obtain the children, and the formality of obtaining the necessary papers is often omitted. But the foundling is to the satisfaction of its foster parents regularly adopted and treated as such."

"That the foundling never quite gives up the hope of discovering who his real parents were is shown in many a pathetic incident in the office of Mrs. Dunphy, the superintendent on Randall's island, where the records of New York foundlings for the past twenty years have been kept by her."

"Often a man, sometimes prosperous looking, with the stamp of the toiler upon him, will ask to see the books of the infant hospital for a certain year. Running his finger down the page of entries, he will pause at a name and ask if there is any record of parental inquiry after the infant's admission to the hospital."

"It is the foundling come back, with the haunting hope that he may, after all, find out who he really is. But the foundling never does find out. And so, even if he rises to be governor or manufacturing magnate, he is beyond everything else pathetic from the beginning to the end."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Joseph Jefferson will spend the summer at Buzzards Bay.

Nance O'Neil has scored a big success at Cairo playing "Magda."

Tom Sharkey, the pugilist, is preparing to be a monologue entertainer.

A big modern production of the late Steele Mackaye's "Money Mad" is announced for next season.

McIntyre and Heath have been together since 1874. They originated the negro dancing on the stage.

Next season Henrietta Crosman will give some special matinees in each city of "Nance Oldfield" and "Madeline."

Laura Eldridge, who has inherited a fortune from H. M. Bennett, the Pittsburgh millionaire, is to return to the stage.

There is a likelihood that Edna May will return to this country to star next season in "Kitty Grey," the piece in which she achieved success in London.

LAW POINTS.

A judgment against a nonresident entered on a note containing a power of attorney to confess judgment, which is valid in the state where entered, is held in Crim v. Crim (Mo.), 54 L. R. A. 502, to be entitled to full faith and credit in other states.

False testimony given in the course of proceedings which are merely erroneous or voidable, even if there be such irregularities or defects as would require a reversal of the cause on appeal, is held in Marford v. Territory (Okla.), 54 L. R. A. 513, to constitute perjury if material.

A mutual agreement between husband and wife to separate on friendly terms and to make no future demands upon each other's property, carried out until the wife's death, is held in Foot v. Nickerson (N. H.), 54 L. R. A. 534, not to prevent the husband from claiming his rights in her estate.

HOW SOLDIERS CAN DIE.

Bravery of the British Under Destructive Fire by the Boers.

When Lieutenant Egerton of the British battleship Powerful and one of the best of the younger officers was directing one of his guns against the enemy in South Africa, one leg and one foot were carried off as he lay on the sand bag parapet watching the effect of the fire, says a writer in M. A. P. "There's an end of my crick!" he said simply. He was carried to the rear with a cigar between his teeth and died soon after.

Spion Kop saw some of the most memorable instances of the cool good humor with which wounds and death were received. Captain Muriel was shot through the cheek while he was handing a cigarette to a private, but he continued to lead his regiment until a bullet crashed through his brain. Scott Moncrieff went on after three bullet wounds. It was not till he was hit the fourth time that he was disabled. An even more remarkable story was that of Grenfell of Thornycroft's. When he received his first shot, he cried, "That's all right; it's not much." "I can get on all right." The third shot killed him. Euehann Riddell, the colonel of the King's Royal rifles, was shot by a bullet through the head as he stood up to read a note from Lytleton, the general. When poor Tait was hit one wound already just barely healed—he exclaimed, "They've got me this time."

But perhaps the death which impresses one most in all the tough and glorious list is that of Lord Alrile. He was shot down in a shower of bullets from a hidden body of Boers just after his men had finished a splendid and successful charge. A few moments before he had said to a sergeant, who, drunk with the poison of battle, had probably burst forth into some characteristic oaths, "Pray, moderate your language." The next moment a bullet had sped through his heart.

WHY SUFFER WITH NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA?

Nervous Dyspepsia is a very common trouble nowadays and differs from common, ordinary, every day indigestion, only in the cause. Common, old fashioned indigestion comes from over-eating, hurried eating, failure to chew the food thoroughly—a greasy, fatty, doughy, pasty diet. Nervous Dyspepsia comes from hurry, worry, care, trouble or excess. The stomach nerves are weakened, they fail to regulate the stomach juices; the supply is insufficient; food is not digested; distresses; rest heavy; get sour; repeats; ferments; gas forms; water brash occurs; the stomach becomes irritable, inflamed, painful or burns; you grow irritable, nervous, restless, morose, sullen, can't sleep, are hungry and afraid to eat, lose weight and strength. It is here Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills come as a blessing—giving to the nerves a strength they lack, and through them to the stomach the power to again properly handle and digest the food; to the system generally a new found strength and vigor—a condition that can be brought about by no other medicine known to science.
